

ECONOMIC IMPACT ANALYSIS

Good decision-making is crucial for our businesses to succeed in Lyons!

The Economic Development Commission (EDC) has created a tool that analyses the impact of events and other factors on our business community. The output from this tool will not only help you better understand the market in which you operate but will also help the Town make better business friendly decisions grounded in data.

What is it?

The Economic Impact Analysis is a collection of information that demonstrates an overall assessment of economic impact trends of Lyons businesses. The information collected compares industry averages and other local information including wedding guests, special events, RMNP visitors, and weather, against daily receipt data from businesses from a variety of different sectors.

Helps your business succeed

We will provide each participating business with personalized results, comprised of a comparison of your results along the local industry averages, and against the comprehensive event data across the same time period. These will allow you to tailor your operations and services to succeed by better capturing event patrons and benefiting from other opportunities.

Helps our business community

Not only does the EDC want to provide this resourceful information to Lyons businesses, but it also wants to better understand the economic impact of events on businesses. With the information, the EDC can refine future work plans to reflect support of successful 'business friendly' events. The EDC will also present the analysis to the Board of Trustees. The provided data will increase their understanding of how different events impact the business community and help inform them for other business, and funding, related decisions.

What do we need from you?

Participating businesses will enter each day's receipts* from the previous year(s). This can be done by generating a report from QuickBooks or entering the data from a ledger. We know your time is valuable so EDC members are making themselves available to help make this process as easy as possible for you. Once entered, a click of a button will convert the raw data into ratios, eliminating dollar amounts. Upon finalizing the data into ratios, the business will then send the information to the partnering Town employee, who will merge data into the comprehensive industry analysis, and return customized results to the business.
